Annual Meeting 2006 Schloss Linstedt, Potsdam

Members and guests present:
As per list of members and guests enclosed.

- 1) Ota Raiter, in the name of President Koenigsmarková, opens the meeting at 9.20 am.

He welcomes members and guests, opens the business meeting and reads the agenda as suggested by the board. The agenda is accepted and will be followed.
- 2) The protocol of the last meeting October 21st 2005 as distributed is accepted without further reading at this meeting. Special thanks to K. Klappenbach and team.
- 3) P. Rath reads the President's report as passed by H. Koenigsmarkova:

The new system of working from Potsdam, Vienna, London and Jablonec instead of from a central Secretariat in Kamenický Šenov [Steinschönau], has been fully successful, resulting in the new Newsletter as medium of member communication.

- a) The Vienna Group has paid for the first two Newsletters by employing Markéta Vojtíšková, no longer paid by the City Council of Kamenický Šenov, who put the two little publications together and sent the 100 copies to members and potential members. Further she listed the most important Bohemian castles, asking the owners to let us have information on existing chandeliers. This will be part of the Vienna organized programme: “Chandeliers in the Habsburg realm”.

Vienna University boasts with the first diploma by Eva Putzgruber on restoration of two late 17th Century chandeliers owned by the Lobmeyr-Rath family. Austrian members have and will lecture on our goals (Frauenau, Stourbridge, Sunderland etc.) Chr. Clausen, together with Dr. Lněničková is inventoring the famous Loetz archives in Kasperské Hory [Bergreichenstein].

- b) The London Group, with our Vicepresident John Smith has given great assistance to the Corning Museum exhibitions “Glass of the Maharajahs” resulting in two articles in our Newsletter #2 by J. Smith and Jane Shadel Spillmann.
- c) The Potsdam Group under K. Klappenbach has been especially active preparing and running the recent outstandingly successful colloquium on “Restoring Chandeliers”, where more than 60 participants from 11 European countries took active part with great lectures and practical insight in the brave doings at the Stiftung Preussische Schlösser & Gärten. The Potsdam castles with their heritage of excellent chandeliers were visited, including the exhibition in the Orangerie im Neuen Garten “Die Kunst zu bewahren”. Special thanks were expressed by all present. K. Klappenbach not only ran the colloquium, she has been to the Metropolitan Museum New York to consult as to methods of restoration of a chandelier in those collections, she is also advising the German Chancellor, as to the quality of chandeliers for her guesthouse, the castle of Meseberg.

Growing interest in the Society comes from the Bayerische Verwaltung der Schlösser, Gärten & Seen, Dr. Ingrid Thom, conservator responsible for the chandeliers in the Bavarian castles.

- d) The Czech Group excels with a special exhibition “Light Made Fast” in the Jablonec glass museum, brought together by Petr Nový (who may wish to resign as Vice President). Markéta Vojtíšková, now working for the Nový Bor Museum [Haida] is fully active for the Society, partly paid from Vienna.

Dr. Koenigsmarková has set in her museum the exhibition with catalogue-book on the 150 anniversary of the oldest glass school in Kamenický Šenov [Steinschönau], one of the only schools with a special department for chandelier design and production.

Looking at the activity for the coming twelve months till we meet again, the President gives the following outlook:

We will continue the strategy of running the Society from independent, selfsupporting regional working groups as accepted by the board: Potsdam, Vienna, London. Further important should be France, Belgium, Scandinavia and Italy, to be prepared through personal contact (Tumur Sajin, Moskow, Sandra Davidson etc).

Two further Newsletters will coordinate the regional programmes offered.

The Vienna-Steinschönau Group will start an "Inventory of historic lightfittings within the former Habsburg Monarchy".

P. Rath, as coordinator of programmes for the Vienna ICOM Glass Committee is suggesting the main theme of this international meeting to be "Glass for Light".

All regional activity must be transmitted in brief to our address in Kamenický Šenov with a copy to our President Dr. H. Koenigsmarkova at UPM Prague.

Discussion followed with interesting suggestions by Louis Pierre Denil, Belgium.

K. Klappenbach agreed to try to bring the newsletter and reports by internet to many. O. Raiter pointed out the high costs of printed paper editions, possibly the newsletter could be hooked on to another website existing. P. Rath points out the great task, and costs of the editor of such material coming in, including quick, good translations. S. Davidson suggests the possibility of Sunderland.

O. Raiter our treasurer gives the financial report for 2005, which due to lack of invoicing and lack of activity expending, show only spent bankcharges and minor bank interests. [...]

The Vienna Group through P. Rath suggests the next annual members assembly of the L&G Society to take place in Vienna. There should be a one day colloquium, such as here so successful in Potsdam, on Friday August 24th 2007, followed, the next day by the business assembly meeting and some excursions.

This proposal is warmly accepted as chance to bring the Society into the mind of the 2.500 international experts of the ICOM General Conference.

Miscellaneous: It was proposed and supported by the assembly that due to prolonged business reports and to find the interest of as many as possible potential members of our Society, P. Rath will see that the coming Newsletter #3 will go to all members if the colloquium and to be accompanied by:

- A friendly letter of introduction and invitation
- The Society's application form, showing membership alternatives
- Financial Report for 2004, and report for 1.1.2006

The business meeting ended at 12,30, offering further visit to the main exhibition.
